MUSICAL DIGEST'S ATTENTION GIVEN TO GLENDALE

Glendale Music Club
Pointed Out as Fine
New Organization

Glendale subscribers to the "Musical Digest," published in New York city, and one of the leading musical periodicals of the United States, were filled with pride when they read the leading editorial in a recent issue in which the Glendale Music club was cited as a wonderful example of civic spirit.

Exclamation points punctuated the announcement that from an organization of 15 charter members in four short months it attained a membership of 514 which has since been increased to 600.

Favorable comment was made on its good fortune in securing the support of civic organization, clubs and churches, and on its junior and juvenile auxiliaries. The work of the juniors during the summer and their organization of an orchestra and a chorus with other groups for ensemble work, was especially commented upon.

Men were recommended to consider this record by an organization started and largely composed of women.

LETHAL GAS EXECUTION IS LATEST

lethal gas today was pronounced upon Hugo Singh and E. Z. John by Judge E. J.
Walsh at Hawthorne, Nev. It will be the first legal execution of its kind in history.

The two men were convicted of murder of Wong Lee in a recent long war. Date for the asphyxiation was set for the last week in April. Notice of appeal was filed following Judge Walsh's ruling today denying a new trial.

Henry James Strikes With Bitter Pen Evil That Distresses Him

Would you read a man's unbridled opinion of what he terms an unsavory pair and in which he likens them to the alley cat—then turn to Henry James' opening comment in his column tonight on the editorial page. Mr. James is a man of high ideals. Once in a while he turns the full wrath of his mighty pen directly upon the thing that distresses him and tonight we have him hitting from the shoulder and following it with an upper cut.
James W. Foley in his pleasing way speaks this evening in
"The Listening Post" of "tomorrow is soon enough" individuals, "it will come out all right" fellows and "what is the difference anyway" beings.
Dr. Frank Crane has a word about "press agents" and what Dr. Crane says about them isn't half that the editor would say about them.

Glance at the editorial page this evening. There is something for every member of the family. Poetry, paragraphs, features and editorials that express honest opinion upon timely subjects.

SAMPE BUS TAKES OFFICIALS OVER CITY THURSDAY

Moreland Truck Company
Sends Bus to Show
City Fathers

That the city of Glendale was not making idle threats when the railroad commission was informed by City Manager Reeves at the recent Pacific Electric rate hearing, that Glendale is contemplating the operation of a municipally-owned motor bus line was evidenced Thursday night when Mayor
Spencer Robinson, City Manager
Reeves and members of the city council rode through the business district of the city in a motorbus of the type that may be used on the municipal bus line.

While nothing definite has been done the establishment of the bus line, it is assured that in the event the Pacific Electric rates are not lowered, action will be taken. The Moreland Truck factory sent the bus to Glendale as a sample and for a demonstration.

After a trip along Broadway and Brand boulevard, the councilmen were of the opinion that the type as illustrated by the bus used was about what would be required in the event the city puts on a bus line.

The trip was made to the accompaniment of the siren on the bus.
Mayor Robinson held the cord of the siren and did a good job. People rushed to the door and on the sidewalk thinking that nothing less than a fire could create such noise. They were greeted by the cry: "This is Glendale's New Municipal Bus. How do you like it?"

BENEFIT FOR HOME HERE ON TUESDAY

Monte Vista Home to Get Proceeds from Vaudeville Show

AT T. D. & L. TUESDAY

Pupils of Keller School
Will Take Part in Entertainment

The big affair in prospect for next week is a vaudeville show by pupils of the Pearl Keller school as a benefit for the Monte Vista home for under-nourished children.
It will be given Tuesday evening at the T. D. & L. theatre, and rehearsals are now going on.

From the interest manifested there is every prospect that the theatre will be packed, as it has been at all the affairs given by Miss Keller.

This one will be an especially fine demonstration of the work of the school, because, except for two cunning babies four years of age, the entire program will be given by advanced pupils.

It means a tremendous amount of work for Miss Keller, who is a busy woman at all times. For that reason her offer to do it is a benefit for the Monte Vista recreational home is the more generous.

It will be remembered that Glendale undertook to equip the kitchen of the institution, a big task because it called for expensive stoves, ice boxes and other costly fittings. The money raised was insufficient and the deficiency has been standing to the discredit of Glendale ever since. When Miss Keller came to the rescue in this generous manner, the local committee, headed by Mrs. R. W.
Meeker, was overjoyed. It gives all Glendale a chance to carry out its responsibilities in connection with the Monte Vista enterprise, and at the same time have a delightful evening's entertainment.

Tickets will be on sale at the theatre and the Keller studio.

CALIFORNIA IS ON SOLID BASIS SAYS HEAD OF BANKS

Dodge Says State Has Returned to Normalcy
in Trading

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—California is the only state in the union that has conquered inflation and other disturbances that followed the war, Jonathan S. Dodge, state superintendent of banks declared in a statement issued today.
"I hesitate to use the superlative," he said. "But facts and figures show that the state has returned to its normal basis of trading."

Despite the fact that this is generally a period of deflation, Dodge records that the state banks have liquidated in bills payable between September 6 and December 31 last year, $14,000,000 that they owed, reduced their rediscounts $2,300,- 000 and have increased the cash and sight exchange $19,000,000.

These figures tell the story of the state banking institutions, he declared. "They have restored themselves to a normal relation to the communities dependent on them. They have liquidated frozen loans and have made enormous new ones required by the productive activities of the state. We have passed the remotest suggestion of danger and we stand unique among the states of the union."

ULSTER AGREES TO JOIN WITH SOUTH

BELFAST, Jan. 27.—Ulster has recognized the southern provisional government, which will become the ael Collins, as head of the south Irish government, has similarly recognized the Ulster government, he said. This was the agreement reached by the two premiers in London amounted to, Craig declared.

DENY REMOVAL

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Extradition papers for Mrs. C. C. Cramer, Ingleside, Calif., were denied Arizona today. J. Charles Jones, deputy attorney general, recommended that extradition be refused because of an insufficient showing.
The woman is alleged to have forgotten travellers checks amounting to $200 in Indiana and afterward cash-ing them in Arizona.

BIG MUSICAL PLAN FOR GLENDALE IS DEVELOPED

Proposed Plan Will Put Glendale Further Ahead
in Music

Promoters of the Glendale Community Chorus wish to have had its organization meeting next Monday evening in the high school auditorium announce a postponement until a date to be reported later, to the end that something bigger which will mean everything to the musical interests of the city may be worked out. This does not mean that there will be any abandonment of the projected community chorus but rather a plan for the substantial backing of such a chorus and of all musical enterprises in Glendale by the organization of what might be termed a local musical federation which will boost for the concerts and other projects of all the organizations represented in its membership and which will also be the promoter and patron of others that may be organized, such as a men's glee club, an oratorical society, a community orchestra, and the like.

It would be an organization to unite for their mutual advantage, all the musical interests of the city.
This big idea was suggested by a musician who was called in consultation by the committee working on the community chorus because he is such a veteran in that sort of organization. He declared there was but one way in which this and other musical affairs of Glendale can be organized that will insure success and that was through the formation of such a group or federation composed of the presidents and heads of all the organizations in Glendale that have at heart the interests of our city.

The representatives composing the membership of the proposed federation, he suggested, would automatically change with a change of administration and thus bring new life continually into the organization, making it a permanent thing and preventing any dry rot through the centering of power and influence for an indefinite period in a few hands.

The plan is just a skeleton at present, which the promoter and his co-workers in the community chorus project wish to present to the various musical organizations of the city for advice and co-operation before taking any decisive step, but the scheme sounds as though it would make of Glendale, which is already known for its music colony, a great musical center where any worthy musical project would find encouragement.
It would be a wonderful thing educationally for the rising generation.

tion and disposal of garbage and rubbish that is attracting considerable attention as an efficient, inexpensive and sanitary method of disposal.

BAPTISTS TO BUILD LARGE CHURCH HERE

Will Cost About $100,000
According to Plans
in Hand

HAVE BIG PIPE ORGAN

Largest Meeting in History of Church Endorses
New Home Plan

The first step toward the erection of a new church which will cost approximately $100,000 was taken last night at a meeting of the membership of the First Baptist church. The meeting was one of the largest ever held in the church, and members are enthusiastic in the effort to provide enlarged quarters.

The plan is to construct the new edifice so that it may be used in conjunction with the present church, the same type of architecture to be carried out. Architect Charles Crissey, head of the Roy L. Kent drafting department, stated last night that the present building is of such a character that its general architectural scheme may be readily changed to conform with the style that is decided upon for the new building.

The new church will be erected on the vacant land lying between the church and Louise street, the church to face on Wilson avenue.
The present building will be used for Sunday school and prayer meetings. The new building will be so constructed in relation to the present edifice that the two will be a single structure. The plan to purchase ground on the west side of the building for $25,000 has been definitely abandoned.

The assembly adopted the following resolution, which was recommended for adoption by the advisory committee and the special promotion committee, which was appointed on October 4 to look into the question of a new church:
"Whereas, Due to the growth of our membership during the past 18 months and the prospective growth during the future on account of the influx of home-seekers to our city, many of whom are casting about for a church home;
and

"Whereas, It is desired that we put ourselves into a position to take proper care of our own and all who care to come in with us;
and

"Whereas, We feel that in order to better accomplish this work for the Master, that more commodious quarters should be provided, both for the church and Sunday school;

HIGH PRIEST WILL VISIT CHAPTERS ALL OVER STATE

Mattison B. Jones Given
Royal Greeting on Recent Trip

Companions who accompanied Mattison B. Jones on his official visits as grand high priest to the lodges at San Diego and Imperial valley, feel very much complimented over the fact that Unity chapter has supplied the most popular high priest the state of California has ever had. Everywhere the party went it was entertained with banquets and received with the greatest enthusiasm.

At San Diego the fact leaked out that Mr. Jones had been named as a candidate for the governorship. One of the local officers announced it and Mr. Jones received an ovation. He forbade any mention of it in the Imperial valley because he was there as grand high priest and did not consider it fitting that gubernatorial matters should be mixed up with Masonic affairs. While in the valley, the party went as far south as Calexico. There are 122 chapters in the state and Mr. Jones expects to visit them all, and if he does,
he will be the first grand high priest who has ever covered the field so thoroughly.

About 200 companions from the lodges of Los Angeles county accompanied Mr. Jones, the Glendale delegation including Dr. R. V.
Hogue, Will Reynolds, John Hunsberger, Clem Moore, M. T. Lee of Eagle Rock and Mr. Van Wormer of Toledo, who is visiting in Glendale.

DEMOCRATS HEAR JONES' DECISION

State Leaders

The harmonious and enthusiastute the Glendale Democratic club had a highly successful banquet and meeting Thursday night.

Covers were laid for 28, the honor
guest of the evening being Mrs.
Charles Donahue, national committeewoman for California.

The purpose of the meeting was to receive from Mattison B. Jones, of this city, an expression in regard to the action taken by the organization in naming him, at its last session, as its candidate for the governorship.

In the absence of the president,
Col. Tom Thornton, Frank Balthis, vice-president, conducted the meeting and called upon Alexander Mitchell for some "dope" in regard to the political situation in California.

Mr. Mitchell approved the word
"dope," saying it was about all one could get since prohibition, and, after some encouraging words of compliment to the young chairman and a tribute to Robert Burns and Woodrow Wilson, he said relative to California politics:

"We are in the minority. The good are always in the minority, but we see a possibility of being able to elect a governor because we are entitled to a governor from Southern California. There is no question but that Stephens will

BAPTISTS WILL HAVE NEW CHURCH

to the Advisory Board of the First Baptist church of Glendale that inasmuch as our investigations have proven that any of the temporary buildings would be unsightly and not in keeping with the high standards of our church organization, and the cost of the erection of either of such temporary structures or additions would be considerable, that instead of making either of these temporary additions, that we turn our thoughts and efforts to the erection of a permanent structure, following in a general way the plan described by the chairman of the promotion committee, and that if our recommendation meets with the approval of the advisory committee, that that committee in turn recommend to the church as a whole the abandoning of the temporary plan and engage in a campaign to start a real, live issue to raise sufficient funds during the coming year to proceed with the erection of a structure in keeping with our well recognized standards and one that would be a credit to the Baptist people of Glendale and to the city as a whole.

In addition to the erection of a church, plans include the installation of a large pipe organ and furnishing the new edifice. The church will seat 590 in the main auditorium and 390 in the gallery.

A committee composed of the promotion and advisory committees will continue to work on the building proposition for the present and a committee of five will be selected from this body to serve as a permanent building committee.

enlarged upon; that she had been Miss Smith before her marriage and if the vote of the Smiths as well as the Joneses could be controlled, success would be certain. Chairman Balthis then called upon Mr. Jones, who thanked the club for the compliment it had paid him. "A compliment beyond my powers of expression in the way of gratitude," he said, "but I want you to know I could not consider it without I first had some strong intimation that the leading Democratic men and women of California, after counseling together, could see that the circumstances of the hour and the considerations of the moment point to the Glendale club's representative to lead in this battle."

"I appreciate the compliment you have paid me. It is more than I deserve, because to be a candidate for the governorship of California, even though defeated, is no mean honor. It is a distinction that few persons in a generation can achieve."

He then referred to the political situation in Kentucky, where the unsatisfactory administration of Democratic governor, who resigned his office to become senator, had led to the election of a Republican to replace him, although the state is normally Democratic. He likened the situation to that of California, saying:

"Mr. Mitchell hints that Governor Stephens has made many mistakes. If he has made mistakes in maintaining these many commissions and constituting the personnel of the commissions in such a manner that they are working against the common weal of the people, there should be a change at Sacramento by cleaning house. That means electing someone who will do what the people want done in this state."

"No one should seek this nomination without being sensible in the first place that as a nominee he will be expected to secure the suffrages of hundreds of thousands of people. He should be a man of such commanding personality and character in his public and private life that, as he is held forth to the people of the state they will say, 'We will be satisfied with him even if he is the head of the Democratic party.' We are in a minority and, under normal conditions, could not expect to elect a Democratic governor in California."

"I feel that the leading Democrats of this state ought to get together in some way without going through the primary, and unite on some one in Northern, Central or Southern California, and say to him: 'You are the man to make the race.'"

"We want to make one great whirlwind fight and it matters not to me personally who that man may be or where he may be found. Let us find him and induce him to make the race and the Democratic party will be taken care of if the right man is found. The thing is to elect the person whom you choose as governor of the state. I would not have you do anything hastily that might result in a mistake from the standpoint of the great state itself. I cannot say anything further to express the sentiment that wells up in my heart because, you know, it is usually said that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country."

Mr. Mitchell suggested a quiet campaign of propaganda for the club's candidate, Mrs. Donahue, when called upon, complimented the club on its initiative and declared the party would be much helped if communities generally would follow its example and see what worthy candidates were to be found within their borders. She referred to a state election in which the Democratic party put forth an almost empty ticket. That would not happen, she said, if the worthy material for candidates had been available to county and state committees. She gave good suggestions for Democratic propaganda, and said:

"If the campaign is properly handled and if the Democrats will go into it with the right kind of enthusiasm, there is no question but that we will elect a Democrat this fall, and let's hope it will be Governor Jones."

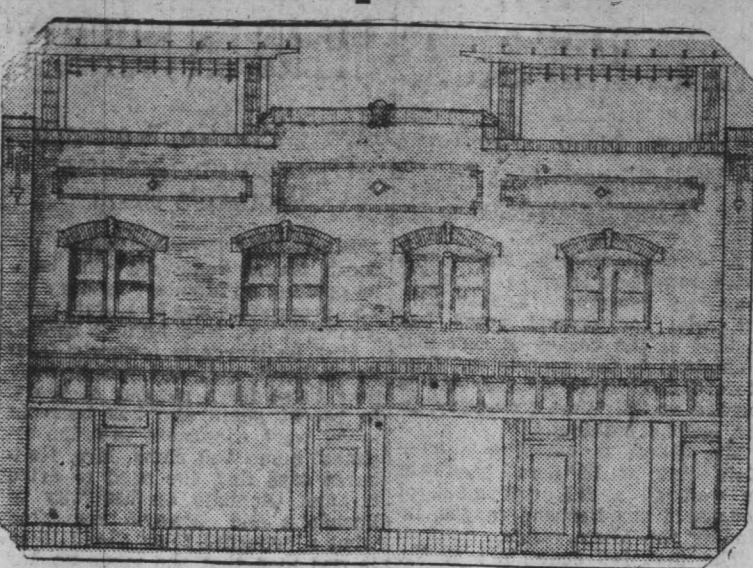

George Larkey gave a toast to the ladies and said he would make every Republican lady a Democrat if he could, and he was sure after mingling with the Democrats for a while you couldn't tell her from the Simon-pure Jeffersonian variety. Said he: "We need all the women to help clean house and boss the job. We even need some Republican women. When it comes to real house cleaning, you want women at the head of it. We feel deeply grateful for the fine work the women of this country are doing, and, Mrs. Donahue, we appreciate the splendid representation you are making on behalf of our national committee."

There was some discussion relative to the ways and means of furthering Mr. Jones' candidacy, in which W. B. Kelley, E. O. Newby, Mr. Mitchell and others participated, and at the suggestion of Mrs. Donahue the club voted to instruct its president to appoint a committee of three to present the name of the club's nominee to the Democratic county committee, and through that organization to the state committee.

The dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Larkey, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Slater, Mrs. Frank Balthis, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Moore, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, J. M. Blankenship, E. O. Newby, T. K. Fambrough, E. L. Rumble, J. C. McConnell, J. L. Doney, Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Donahue, guests of honor, their daughter, Mrs. Bartis, Frank Balthis, Jr., vice-president, and Miss Elizabeth Smith, secretary of the club.

Building Activity Takes Further Spurt in Glendale

New Freeman Kelly Building

Within a few days, work will start on a two-story brick business and apartment block on the west side of Brand boulevard between Wilson and California avenues, to be erected for Freeman Kelly at a cost of about $25,000. It was designed by Charlton & Brainard, of 113 East Broadway.

The structure will be 50 by 80 feet, and on the main floor there will be three stores, two of which will be 15 by 79 feet, and one 18 by 79. The stores will have cement floors, and will be modernly equipped.

The main entrance to the second floor will be on the north side of the building. The second floor will be composed of eight apartments, four of which will have three rooms—living, dining, kitchen—and bathroom, built-in bed, closet and trunk closet. In each of the four bachelor apartments there will be a living room with built-in bed, kitchenette, and bath. The apartments will have hardwood floors throughout, with linoleum in the kitchens. The built-in features will include coolers, ironing boards, cupboards, floor gas heaters, beds, etc. From the rear hall a stairway will lead to the roof garden, which will be at the front of the building, where there will be seats, potted palms and flowers.

The main portion of the ornamental front will be of cream-colored pressed brick, the trim will be in light old-gold brick and art-stone, with an insert of batchelor tile. There will be prism glass transoms over all store fronts, and the stores will have plate glass windows, beneath which will be batchelor tile base. It is expected that this building will be finished within three months.

Charlton & Brainard are also drawing plans for an apartment house for G. M. Lincoln, at the corner of California and Kenwood. This will contain four apartments of many built-in features, including tile baths and sinks, beds, ironing boards, etc.

Immediately behind this building, a four-room bungalow will be constructed, which will be modern in every way. At the rear of the bungalow six garages will be erected. The improvements to be placed on this lot will cost about $15,000.

This firm is also drawing plans for a double bungalow for I. Cline at the corner of Central and Arden. This will contain four rooms on either side and there will be garages at the rear. This will be frame with pergola in front. There will be hardwood floors and many built-in features.

In Kansas women who perform men's work are entitled to the same wages as men, according to a ruling of the Court of Industrial Relations.

ST. MARK'S GUILD

ALL-DAY MEETING

St. Mark's guild met Thursday for an all-day meeting in the guild hall. There was a short business session in the afternoon and the ladies remained to help with the parish dinner, which was served in the evening to about 200 people. Rev. Cornell, acting rector, acted as toastmaster in the evening, and interesting talks were made by Mr. Hamilton, senior warden, and Mrs. Mortimer Baker, president of the guild.

Mr. Berneys, clerk of vestry, and Mrs. Berneys, superintendent of the Sunday school, also gave interesting talks. Mrs. Helen Campbell, chairman of the choir guild, and Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman, gave interesting little talks regarding the choir guild. Two very pretty anthems were sung by the choir, and Mr. Townsend rendered a beautiful baritone solo. Mrs. Farber and her committee were in charge of the supper, which proved a great success. It was necessary to turn away about 35 people without being served on account of the large number of guests. Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman and her Sunday school class had charge of the tables, which were prettily decorated with yellow acacia blossoms. This was also the occasion of the christening of the new silver, purchased by the guild ladies for their use.

SILVER TEA AT

Mrs. C. F. Parker of 221 North Central avenue was hostess Thursday afternoon at a silver tea, given for the benefit of the building fund of the Congregational church. There were about 30 ladies present who enjoyed solos by Mrs. Ella Stewart Smith of Haverhill, Mass., a house guest of Mrs. C. M. Calder.

W. N. L. L. HELD
FINE SESSION

The open meeting of the W. N. L. L. No. 400, held in I. O. O. F. hall Thursday, Jan. 26, was a huge success. The entertainment committee was much pleased with the splendid attendance and the members and friends enjoyed a very sociable afternoon.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Frances Noel's address on the vital necessity of organization among employed women a resolution was adopted to write the industrial welfare commission of San Francisco, reiterating their former protest against the reduction of the minimum wage for women. Refreshments were served.

DINNER PARTY
AT HAMILTONS

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hamilton of 327 West Garfield avenue entertained at a delightful dinner on Thursday evening. Table decorations were carried out in pink and white, using flowers and candles, and a pleasant musical evening was enjoyed.

The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beckert, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Findlay, Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Camerer, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Cory and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hamilton.

BUILDING GROUP
DISCUSSES HOME

A meeting of the building committee of the Tuesday afternoon club was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker on North Central avenue, at which the policy to be adopted in connection with the building of a club home was thoroughly discussed. The committee is composed of members of the club's executive board, past presidents, and past members of ways and means committees, all women who are thoroughly acquainted with conditions. By unanimous vote they decided to limit the expenditures for a club building to $50,000 and will instruct Architect Alfred F. Priest accordingly. This amount will be exclusive of club furnishings. It will allow for an auditorium with a gallery which will seat 800, and which can be expanded by throwing into it adjoining wings which will presumably be "curtained" off and be used for other purposes when not needed as an auditorium.

The plan will also allow for enlargement of the auditorium in the future when the club is in a position to build an addition to the club house.

Except for the auditorium, the club house will presumably be a one-story structure but the design is yet to be worked out by Architect Priest. It will probably be ready for submission to the club at its next business session February 7.

By limiting the building expenditure to $50,000 the club will be compelled to borrow but $25,000, which can be carried without being a serious burden to the growing organization, and it is believed the decision of the committee will meet the approval of the club as a whole. Members of the building committee are: Mesdames Chas. E. Hutchinson, president; A. M. Williams, Mabel F. Ocker, Oliver O. Clark, Mabel S. Rudy, A. M. Hunt, E. W. Kinney, John Robert White, E. W. W. Haywood, O. E. Von Oven, Andrew P. Findlay, J. H. Braly, A. W. Tower, Mattison B. Jones, H. E. Bartlett, C. H. Temple, E. W. Ward, Daniel Campbell and Miss Eva Daniels.

Another New Business Will Throw Hat in Ring Saturday

A new hardware store will come into existence in Glendale tomorrow morning. Ernest Elliott, who for several years has resided at the corner of Oak and Columbus, is the proprietor. The store is 16 by 60 feet and is located at 205 West Broadway, in the Ralphs building.

Mr. Elliott is carrying a complete line of builders' hardware as well as a full equipment of household supplies and ranges, including the Vesta range.

The first 100 customers at the opening tomorrow will be given a dish mop free. This company will make a specialty of O'cedar polish and mops, and five-gallon galvanized garbage cans, and will make a special price on nails, the price quoted being $4.75 base per keg.

LADIES' TOGGERY
OPENS ON MONDAY

Two Glendale Women to Operate an Exclusive Woman's Shop

The Ladies' Toggery Shop at 135 South Brand boulevard will have its opening on Monday, January 30. The proprietors are Mrs. Catherine Neithardt and Mrs. Lulu C. Sword.

Mrs. Neithardt is formerly the dairy from Pasadena and always remarked what a beautiful town Glendale is. It was then that she made up her mind to live here, whether or not she started in business. She is now residing at 208 1/2 West Hawthorne street.

Mrs. Sword is formerly of 209 North Wilton place, Los Angeles, and has sold her home there and moved to Glendale, 205 North Orange street. While in Los Angeles she was in business, covering a period of ten years.

This new and exclusive shop will carry a fine line of millinery, sport suits, skirts, sweaters, corsets, brassieres, veils and an exceptionally beautiful line of neckwear. Everything in stock is the latest.

Their millinery line will include the famous Gage hats, a new shipment of which has just arrived from New York. Especially good is their line of lace and net neckwear. They invite the public to their new shop.

In these days of conservation of resources, add to your income by renting that extra room. A little classified ad will find a desirable tenant.

ADORABLE FROCKS that are veritable breaths of Spring time are now being shown at the GLENDALE DRY GOODS STORE, 115 East Broadway! A lovely American Beauty silk rattle captivated my fancy—for it is exquisitely fashioned along the most becoming lines for sports wear—and so tastefully trimmed! Then, too, there's another of green and white with the same beautiful material! But the most fetching frock of all, to my mind, was of black taffeta—trimmed with a delicate orange-shaded organdie, in golden petal effect on sleeves, and collar! The models are from well-known Eastern designers—but it is the prices that will amaze you! Seldom does one find gowns so reasonably priced! A beautiful selection of sport skirts, too, is another feature of their display—the popular espagnole in black and white, the good-looking velours in plaids and in the reds and browns. Then, too, the pleated skirt bids fair to rival the two-piece skirt in the race for popularity this season! Don't fail to watch the beautiful window displays of the Glendale Dry Goods Store—for there it is you'll learn of the latest of their spring arrivals!

Salt and water will remove the sizing in new cottons and make them easier to launder.

A SMART FUR CHOKER for the Springtime wear—is the very last word of Dame Fashion! Perhaps you don't feel you can go to the expense of buying a new fur right now, though? Well, just take that old muff or the sleeve from your old fur coat up to the BEDELL FUR SHOP, 1125 North Louise street—for Miss Bedell is a genius when it comes to re-designing old furs! She'll make you the most stunning and descriptive of those hopeless materials—and at amazingly reasonable prices! Call her at Glendale 429-J for an appointment!

SPECIAL MARK-DOWN SALE
AT TOLMAN'S SHOP UNIQUE, 125 W. Broadway, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday! Leather hand-painted pillows with beautiful and descriptive verses of California, marked from $7.50 to $6.00. Hand-painted fruit and flower baskets, marked from $3.50 to $2.75. Tie racks, shaving pads, kodak books, leather hand-bags, beads, necklaces, abalone desk-sets, paper knives, napkin rings, match holders, hand painted table mats and runners—all at greatly reduced prices! Indian moccasins—men's from $3.00 to $2.75 per pair; women's, at $2.00 per pair; children's, a few at $1.00 per pair. AND, while they last—the "LAST OF THE MOHICANS"—chiefs, squaws, and papooses—drop in and see them!

Before grating lemons, remove the small brown specks borders a navy swill, which, on the outer peel. To do this, soak the lemons in cold water for 20 minutes and then rub with a small scrubbing brush.

YUM-M! I dropped in at PUSSEN BOOTS, 211 1/2 South Brand boulevard for dinner last night—and, my dear, I've never tasted such apple pie! It is perfectly wonderful, and even better than home-made! They serve a delicious merchants' lunch for 50c and a palatable dinner at 75c.

"HOM-KEEPING HEARTS
ARE HAPPIEST!" How true these words ring! To the woman whose heart and soul are wrapped up in the making of her home—comes that rare but sincere happiness—that joy of doing! To her the homely duties of housekeeping—the dusting, the mending, the ironing, the washing, the cooking—are merely tasks to be done—a daily routine that must be followed—are simply joyful steps in the accomplishment of that which she desires—a true home! For, after all, "Home is where the heart is," you know—and although "men build houses," it is women who make homes! The successful homemaker is ever on the alert for something new—something that will add materially to the comfort of her home and of those dear ones who share it with her! And in order that she may be more directly in touch with those merchants of Glendale who are endeavoring to secure for her the best of everything—every comfort and convenience that might tend to make her home more attractive and more livable—I'm recounting here in these columns little instances of what I've found in my daily visits to the shops! Here you will find suggestions for your shopping trip—stories of beautiful homes that are being sold—hints of where-to go for the party cakes, or to have father's old chair re-upholstered, how to remedy marred and scratched woodwork and furniture, or "a word to the wise" about your plumbing—and all manner of details that might aid the housewife and contribute to her success as a homemaker! Glendale is a city of beautiful homes—and the merchants of Glendale are doing all in their power to make it more beautiful and more successful. It is for you to adopt as your shopping slogan—

Buy it in Glendale!

Doughnuts are delightful flavored with the grated rind of an orange.

OF COURSE, YOU'RE RATHER
sensitive about that out-of-date ring of your diamond, aren't you? Particularly as your friends all have platinum set stones! But, really, it's so simple to have a beautiful, modern mounting at a remarkably low cost—for ARTHUR H. DIBERN, of 121 North Brand Blvd., will change the setting most reasonably! Just stop in the next time you're out, and ask about their prices on remounting—no matter whether it's a pin, a ring, or a bracelet in which you want the stone changed—Dibbern's will do it—and do it well!

Iron will not rust if rubbed with stove polish mixed with paraffin instead of water.

I LINGERED LONG at FISHER'S VARIETY STORE, 212 East Broadway, today, over the prettiest of laces and embroideries that I've seen in ages! At prices ranging from 5c to 10c, and 15c the yard are beautiful Valenciennes, Torchon and imitation crochets as well as narrow edgings and picot edges! The widths are suitable for most any purpose, from half inch to three and one-half inches! They are also showing lovely beadings and beading edges! Also worthy of more than passing notice are the embroideries which they're selling at 7 1/2c to 23c per yard, of Swiss and Cambric. Stop in and look them over!

ONE'S STREET CLOTHES must always be immaculately cleaned and pressed—an item that is in itself a never failing mark of refinement! Send them to the BRAND CLEANERS—217 South Brand boulevard—for they do expert work at most reasonable prices!

A PURE, COOL, REFRESHING
DRINK—that is at once healthful and invigorating is the famous White Rose Spring Water—bottled fresh at the springs daily by the INDEPENDENT ICE CO., 106 East California Avenue. Call Glen. 217.

YES, MY DEAR, I MOST CERTAINLY DO ADVISE you to stop in at SHERROD'S SPECIALTY SHOP, 207 East Broadway, for your next pair of corsets! They carry the Treo Elastic Girdles, the Madame Grace and the Graceland Stockings—all well-known and reputable lines! It is such an advantage to the stout woman to be able to be correctly corseted by expert corsetiers and right here in Glendale, too! Oh, yes, and while you're there, ask Mrs. Sherrod to show you the wonderful corset for young girls—it is indeed well worth looking at!

SPRING-TIME AND SEORT-
TIME are synonymous with sport-clothes! Hubby will surely need some good-looking silk shirts for both business and sport wear as summer approaches! And, when you can simply have Georginette of GEORGINETTE'S LINGERIE SHOPPE, 1016 South Glendale avenue; make them to measure it is such an advantage! She does beauty work—and her garments really can't fail to please the most fastidious! Just take his measurement and stop in at Georginette's with the materials—she'll do the rest—and so economically, too!

FETCHING FROCKS for Spring-time exquisitely fashioned of lovely taffeta and charmingly bouffant in contour of style—are the new gowns now being shown at the FASHION SHOPPE, 406 South Brand boulevard. The popular new navy, brown and gray shades are all represented—in beautiful models complying to the "nth degree" of Dame Fashion's latest dictates—and, yes, my dear—you must drop in and order your gown for the dance next month. You can't afford to miss this! In the designing of beautiful evening gowns—gowns to fit one's own personality!

COUNCIL DEFERS
AWARD CONTRACT

The city council Thursday night decided to defer action on awarding contracts for improvement work for one week on the following streets: Kenilworth avenue from Harvard street to Colorado, Columbus from Vine to Broadway, Elk from Central to Pacific, Garfield from Glendale to Brand and Elk avenue from Everett to Adams. City Manager Reeves was instructed by the city council to communicate with the contracting firms of Napier and Simpson and the Fleming Construction company, who were the lowest bidders in most of the above mentioned jobs, that they would be required to furnish the city with a financial statement before awards are made. This statement will remain confidential, it was stated.

Shipyard workers in England have had their pay reduced 15 per cent.

YUCAIPA BOOSTER
SEES GREAT CITY
FOR GLENDALE

C. H. Smith, president of the chamber of commerce in Yucaipa, the great apple country of Southern California, and also a director of the Apple Growers' association of that place, visited Glendale Thursday with his old friend, Col. James C. Everington, chief of police of Los Angeles. Aside from being a booster for the Yucaipa valley, Mr. Smith is enthusiastic over Glendale and its prospects, and said:

"I think Glendale is a wonderful city and I believe it has a great future. The chamber of commerce of Yucaipa would like to have the people of Glendale get in closer touch with the growers and producers of our valley through the efforts of our chamber of commerce which we in Yucaipa believe to be one of the liveliest and most active chambers in Southern California. It is an organization that does things."

The Yucaipa chamber of commerce is making a plea to have the Union Pacific, which is at present using the Santa Fe lines from Daggett to Los Angeles, to come into Yucaipa and Redlands, putting both cities on the main line.

In speaking of the valley, Mr. Smith said:

"The apple district of Yucaipa is ten years old and has 5,000 acres of apples, in addition to cherries, peaches, pears and plums, which are raised in abundance. Last year the apple acreage yielded the first crop worth while. This year we have reason to believe that another excellent crop may be expected. Already this year the valley has had 20 inches of rainfall and a low temperature, which is good for deciduous fruits, so we feel reasonably safe in saying that we expect another bumper crop of apples this year."

CHIROPRACTIC IS DISCUSSED

"I was sent by the medical profession of Chicago in 1895 to Davenport, Iowa, to expose chiropractic," said Dr. E. C. Fortin, who lectured at the chamber of commerce hall last night, "but upon investigating it I saw its merits and instead of exposing it I immediately enrolled in the chiropractic school."

"Dr. Palmer discovered chiropractic by accident. He was treating a patient who was deaf. At one of his treatments he found a vertebrae out of place. Upon replacing this vertebrae, the patient regained his hearing. This accident led to a complete investigation which proved to Dr. Palmer that the nerves to all parts of the body emanate from the spine. The treatment of many patients only served to further prove the initial findings along this line."

"Dr. Palmer proved conclusively that germs are not the original cause of disease. The fact is that when the nerves which supply any particular organ are pressed upon by a dislocated vertebrae, that organ does not receive its proper amount of nerve nutrition. This state naturally weakens the organ, whereupon it is attacked by the disease germs. Disease germs cannot successfully attack a perfectly healthy organ. The purpose of chiropractic is to keep the different parts of the spine in position so that the nerves to all parts of the body may feed the various organs properly."

"We need the surgeon, also the physician, and the osteopath, and other agencies that effect genuine cures, but we must not forget that we need the chiropractic. We need them all so long as they do good."

Louis G. Guernsey, a well known attorney of Los Angeles, also gave an address and the "Four Embers" quartet sang a number of excellent numbers.

DISABLED MEN GO TO WASHINGTON

Thomas A. Austin, commander of Los Angeles Post No. 8 of Disabled American Veterans of the world war, and M. G. Robinson, adjutant of the same post, have been selected to represent this organization at the national conference which will be held in Washington on February 1, 2, and 3. Both of the men are now recuperating at Thornycroft hospital.

Col. Forbes, director of the veterans' bureau, will be present at this conference, at which all matters of vital interest of the disabled men will be taken up. This convention was called by Judge Marx of Cincinnati, national commander of Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Every chapter in the United States will have at least one representative at this convention.

NEW MILLINERY
STORE EAGLE ROCK

Jane E. Gilbert will hold a formal opening of a new millinery store on Saturday at 106 East Colorado street, Eagle Rock. Mrs. Gilbert has purchased a new stock of spring hats and they are all late models. Her store on North Brand, Glendale, also has been supplied with a new spring stock.

The street peddler was selling neckties by the public library while his coppers watched for the sign of bluecoat. He had to work fast. "This here scarf," he shouted, "makes a gent look dressable and you'd pay three bucks for it at any haberdasher's. I bring these over from Paris myself. The king of Paris wore one exactly like this at the grand ball given at the Buss de Balcony." A capper stepped up and bought one. "Ah," said the peddler, "Mr. Pierpont Morgan takes this one."

REGISTER SHOWS
724 CHILDREN

Boys and Girls in Equal Number at Eagle Rock

In accordance with a new law requiring the registration of minors, a census was taken last October and is being compiled in the office of the county superintendent. The figures for Eagle Rock City have been received and show that 724 children between the ages of 7 and 17 were at that time residing here. Of these 28 were fatherless, 8 were motherless, four had no parents living, and 16 resided with guardians.

The boys and girls were equal in number. Other interesting facts were that 39 fathers and 23 mothers were born in foreign countries, eight boys and six girls were not born in the United States, the number of boys having native fathers was the same as the number of fathers native-born, and the number of girls having native-born mothers was the same as the number of mothers native-born.

FINE LECTURE AT
EAGLE ROCK CITY

Myron Hunt to Be at School Auditorium Tonight

The Parent-Teacher association and the Community Players of Eagle Rock have secured Myron Hunt of Los Angeles, an expert landscape architect, to give a lecture Friday evening, January 27, in the Central school auditorium. He will be introduced by Dr. Bird, president of the faculty of Occidental college. The subject, always of value to home-owners, is of special interest at the present time, when arrangements for a Greek open-air theatre, which has been offered for the use of the Community Players, are being made at the college. The various organizations of the city, also many individuals, have contributed trees for the landscaping of the college grounds.

The lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon views, selected from scenes in England, Italy, our eastern states, and Southern California. There is no charge for admittance and a large audience should take advantage of such an opportunity to pass an evening both pleasant and profitable.

Townsend and East Sycamore avenues before returning east.

Rev. Robert Renison, rector of the Episcopal church, has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn A. White, at 820 Rock Glen avenue, the past two weeks, as his home on Fairmont avenue is quarantined. The little son of his daughter-in-law, who arrived from Canada some time ago to spend the winter with the Renisons, has been ill with a light attack of scarlet fever thought to have been contracted on a recent visit to Stockton.

A certain young doctor will have to improve his methods or he will never have enough patients to maintain him. A woman came in to see him a few days ago. She looked haggard and pale.

"Well, madam," he said, "what is it?"

"I'm troubled with insomnia," she sighed. "What shall I do for it?"

"Sleep it off, madam; sleep it off," he advised.

PLUMBERS HAVE AN ORGANIZATION

Elect Officers and Hear Some Very Practical Speeches

Business men who attended the banquet of master plumbers at the chamber of commerce Tuesday state that about sixty representative men of the trade were present as guests including delegations from Pasadena and Los Angeles.

An excellent talk was made by Mr. Turk of this city and a local organization was effected which will cover Glendale, Eagle Rock and Burbank.

Officers were elected as follows: Fred S. Hannaford, president; William Griffin, secretary; Mr. Kale of Burbank, vice president; E. L. Carlyle of this city, treasurer; members chosen for the executive board being, Ed Coker, William E. Clark, K. P. Kelsey and E. L. Stice.

Addresses on the advantages of organization to promote the welfare of both plumbers and the public were made by Mr. Richardson of Pasadena, Mr. Culler of Los Angeles and Mr. Tyler of Pasadena.

An old lady from the country, on seeing an electric light for the first time in her life, was so amazed that she could not resist entering the store—a large grocery store—and asking a clerk about it. "I say, mister, how do you make that big light of yours? I'm tired of buying kerosene." "Oh, it is caused by electric currents," was the answer. "Then I'll buy a pound. When they're done for lighting they'll come in handy for a pudding."

FROCK COAT WILL GET BY AT PALACE

Prince Regent Carves Red Tape and Breaks Precedents

TOKIO, Jan. 27.—The American ambassador can now wear a frock coat to the imperial palace and get by with it.

That's because Prince Regent Hirohito, acting emperor of Japan, has already commenced to carve away some of the red tape with which he found his court encumbered. Some of the palace dignitaries, bred to the traditions of excessive and unchanging formality, are said to be rather fearful that the progressive Hirohito may modernize things too much. But the people and the press—all "New Japan"—are standing on the sidelines, as it were, encouraging Hirohito to make it snappy.

Accordingly, so simple a matter as a modification in the traditional costume of the American ambassador at the most formal of imperial court affairs has been made much of by some of the newspapers as a very significant indication of the Prince Regent's democracy.

It all began when Hirohito received the foreign envoys at the imperial palace. The ambassadors of all countries except the United States wore their "diplomatic uniforms," with much gold lace and fancy trimmings. But American ambassadors do not have gold-laced clothes. Always heretofore, Tokyo court custom has decreed that the American ambassador, being devoid of glittering braid, must wear full evening dress to the imperial reception of envoys. They are always in the day time, but that didn't matter.

But when Hirohito became regent, a quiet little tip was passed along to the American embassy, and for the first time in history an American ambassador was received in his trusty frock coat at the formal presentation of envoys at the Japanese imperial court.

New York Has New Play That Is Considered Nice

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—What a feeling of contentment, of satisfaction, of all's-well-with-the-worldness, it does give one to be able to sit down at one's typewriter and say something, conscientiously, nice about a new play!

To be sure the old machine is hard put to, formulating words of praise, so little practice has it had this season. But the truth must be told, no matter how pessimistic the keyboard has become.

New York has a corking good comedy in Captain Applejack and Wallace Eddinger, has given the long-suffering theater fans a characterization they can stand right up and cheer over.

Sam H. Harris is the manager who presents Eddinger and Mary Nash in Walter Hackett's fantasy.

Over in London Charles Hawtry played the role of "Ambrose Applejohn." And of course there was some murmuring among the cognoscenti who had seen the original production, that they couldn't see Eddinger in the part. But they didn't need opera glasses to see this American actor put it over with a great big hit. A more delightful performance than Eddinger's serio-comic interpretation of the bored "Ambrose Applejohn" and the dream "Captain Applejack" has not been seen this season.

Aside from Mary Nash, Hamilton Revell and Ferdinand Gottschalk, the company is very disappointing.

"Captain Applejack" is the story of a Cornwall gentleman longing for adventure. He offers his ancestral home for sale through an agent. And he gets all the adventure he wants through a band of crooks, lured to the spot by what proves to be the agent's idea of stimulating interest in the property—a fictitious history and hidden horde. Ambrose who finds the revealing document reads that he is really a descendant of an old pirate, Captain Applejohn. The second act is his dream of himself as this supposed ancestor. Of course it turns out that he is really a respectable Applejohn, and he finds his romance with his aunt's ward, Poppy Faire.

If "Lawful Larceny" deserved no other comment, one must give pause before A. H. Wood's noble defense of the sanctity of the home, after his indefatigable production of bedroom farces, Demi Virgins and the like! Samuel Shipman's diverting drama gives the victor's wealth to the virtuous siren. The legal weakness which lets the siren who robs a wife of her husband and his fortune go free and condemns the wife who robs the siren of her stolen wealth is caustically censured.

The finished playing of Lowell Sherman stands out even in a notable cast including Margaret Lawrence, Allan Dinehart and Gail Kane. We do wish, though, that if playwrights write such ecstatic lines about the overwhelming beauty of a heroine, the producer would either cast a modern Helen of Troy for the part or modify the lines. Margaret Lawrence is a clever actress of fine intelligence and artistry, but she isn't a great beauty. It seems trivial to call attention to an unnecessary attribute.

"Up in the Clouds," a musical show, goes its merry way.

"S. S. Tenacity," which marked Augustin Duncan's debut as an actor-manager, seems to be one of those ships that pass in the night.

SWISS FRANC IN WAR ON DOLLAR

Interesting Battle Now on to Establish New Standard

GENEVA, Jan. 27.—Entirely against her own interests and her own wishes, Switzerland is engaged in a merry little warfare with the United States to see whether the Swiss franc or the American dollar shall become the international unit of value in the settlement of international obligations.

Much to her regret, Switzerland is forced to admit there is every indication that the Swiss franc is going to win out, at least as far as the international monetary standard for European countries is concerned. The American dollar will probably retain its place as the most stabilized currency in big inter-continental and world-wide affairs.

The prestige which the Swiss franc is thus gaining, is having the most disastrous effects on the economic life of the little republic. The big demand has the effect of keeping the Swiss franc almost constantly at its par value, cutting down Swiss exports in the most extreme degree and sending up the cost of living without any offset in the way of a depreciated plentiful currency, as in all of the surrounding countries.

Without question Germany has been the most guilty country in buying up and making payments in Swiss francs. Hundreds of great German war profiteers, as security for their own private fortunes, took steps at the close of the war to get their billions changed into Swiss currency. Then, when Germany had to buy foreign moneys for meeting international obligations, the Swiss franc was closest to her door.

In the meantime, nearly everybody of great fortune in the countries growing out of the break-up of the old Austro-Hungarian monarchy, began changing their countless but almost worthless millions of Austrian kronen, or Slovakian, Hungarian or what-not paper into Swiss francs. Then the big importers of all the Central European countries began demanding payment of all international contracts and obligations in Swiss currency. It was the currency closest to home which still retained a fixed value. The result has been that the Swiss franc has become the generally accepted basis of settlement of all international obligations. It has become Europe's international currency.

Then, to add a last crumb of disaster, big German industrialists have now begun to demand the settlement of their domestic bills in Swiss currency. The demand, therefore, for Swiss francs is so great that the latter is kept at almost its pre-war normal exchange, with all the disastrous effects for a country, like the United States, for example, with a money value so high that no one can afford to buy from it. Switzerland is therefore facing a budget deficit of 90,000,000 Swiss francs for the coming year.

Human nature is the thing that makes some men imagine they have a perfect right to work less themselves and at the same time work others more.

Truths in Epigram

Extreme remedies are very appropriate for extreme diseases.—Hippocrates (460-359 B. C.).

SEEKING THE WORM

From the fact that even now there is discussion as to the personnel of the next presidential campaign, may be drawn the inference that if the early bird is not already out in quest of the worm, the political gossips think the tardiness inexcusable.

One of the rumors extant is that Tumulty is to have charge of the Hoover candidacy. This assumes rather too much to be impressive. Hoover could have had the democratic nomination that went to Cox. There was a large and enthusiastic force of democrats, the influential elements of the party, ready to endorse him. He would not have been required even to proclaim himself a democrat. Had he accepted the nomination, it is reasonable to suppose that the country would have witnessed the spectacle of a non-partisan presidential triumph. It is not easy to see how, in the then state of the public mind, with Hoover not only a national, but a world figure, any combination could have brought about his defeat.

Tumulty was a democrat, and doubtless so remains. Hoover not only is not a democrat, but when he had the opportunity, rejected proffered honors, apparently because acceptance might have been construed as the confession of adherence to democratic principles.

Therefore when the gossips attempt to spread the tale that Tumulty is grooming Hoover for the race, the impulse is to tell them that they have made a bad and somewhat silly guess.

BASE AMONG CRIMES

Sabotage is so ignoble in principle and method, that even among crimes it must be regarded as singularly base. Often it involves the loss of life and property. It is aimed at an individual or a firm, and hits the public. It is a sign of cowardice.

Sometimes there is a tendency to make a hero of the spectacular criminal. Often there is a tendency to be lenient with the erring on the ground that he has been the victim of circumstance, or of inherent weakness rather than of wickedness. Neither of these impulses is stirred by the person guilty of sabotage. He is despicable beyond any limit that even an abundant mercy may reach.

A former seaman of one of the shipping board steamers has been convicted of sabotage. As an officer he made use of the chance to introduce alien substance into the machinery, disabling or wrecking it.

Doubtless the soapbox orators of the land will declare the conviction an outrage. They will say it is the result of a conspiracy against labor. The parlor bolshevist will take up the cry. It will be passed along to the communists, and the regnant rag-tag of Moscow. Then from many points will come an uproar of protest. All these are incidents to be regarded as inevitable, but as of no possible consequence.

Honest sailors, all who "go down to the sea in ships," all who believe in decency, and uphold the law, will be glad if a criminal so depraved has been apprehended and given his due, so far as the giving of dues is possible.

MEMORIAL GOLD DOLLARS

The senate has passed a bill authorizing the coinage of 10,000 Grant memorial gold dollars.

The people of the United States always will honor the memory of the general who led the armies to victory that ended the great civil war. They will not forget that for two terms thereafter he was chief executive of the nation. It will not be due to any objection to accentuating the desire to express fresh signs of esteem, that they may question the wisdom of the proposed coinage.

With ten thousand only of the coins minted, a very sparse minority of Americans ever would see one of the dollars. The pieces would drift speedily into the hands of collectors. They never would enter into circulation. They would be bought and sold at ever increasing premium.

A memorial coin of such nature as to be useful as a coin, would be a pleasing token. Such pieces have on many occasions marked some event of national interest.

As a larger issue of special gold dollars would be equal to sending into retirement that considerable quantity of metal utilized, it might not be wise. The small issue proposed would be ineffective, and soon forgotten save among numismatists.

One natural conclusion is that the memorial idea ought to take some form wholly different from the one proposed.

AN ELECTION ISSUE

It is said that Senator Pomeroy will make the Newberry election an issue in his own campaign in the fall. For this intent the Ohio man is rebuked by a strictly partisan paper. His attention is directed to the fact that certain democrats also have reached the senate by processes that do not look well under the full light of publicity.

While the statement of the partisan critic is true, it has nothing to do with the Newberry case. This case is a matter of current history. The odor of it still is in the nostrils. The attempt to justify it by pointing to precedents, is the attempt to prove that if enough wrongs be added together, the result is a right. Such attempt deserves to fail, and always has failed.

Newberry was seated despite the fact that the senators who voted favorably knew that his election had been brought about by corrupt means. It may be admitted that by a strange judicial interpretation of law, the offense was made to appear, most conveniently, as a mere technicality. It must be admitted at the same time, that the offense was deliberate, and in absolute contravention of the spirit of the statute.

The people of the country know that Newberry was admitted to a seat to which morally he was without title, and that the senators responsible were aware of all the conditions.

When the senators of one side choose to take such a course, they may be certain that the other side will make capital of it. They are left without the privilege of legitimate protest, quite conscious that they themselves would not overlook a similar opportunity to profit by the error of their political opponents.

HUMAN CREDULITY

There is one born every minute. They appear in such numbers that wicked folk who thrive upon them, have the opportunity to trim them in bunches.

Recently there appeared in the city papers an advertisement that a pretty woman was about to drive from Los Angeles to San Francisco. She desired a trio of male escorts not only to bear her company, but to bear a part of the financial burden of the trip. The males began to apply. They belonged to the class augmented steadily by a birthrate of one to the minute, or they would have known better. When the woman advertised herself as pretty, she gave the scheme away. In the mind of an ordinary person would have been formed a query as to what might be her little game.

Three males, so far as reported, paid their fares and made an appointment to meet the pretty lady at a certain corner. They were then to have been whisked on their way to the bay city, charmed as they went, by a bewitching feminine presence.

Alas and alas, that the hour came and brought no pretty lady, no shiny roadster; nothing but a hopeful male triumvirate with hand baggage and fond anticipation.

It really was very sad.

STARVING INDIANS

There are reports that Indian children in Amador county are close to starvation. Some of them are said to be subsisting on herbs. People do not subsist on herbs. When they are forced to make the attempt, they do nothing but prolong a period of hunger.

Members of the state board of control have promised to investigate the matter and render such aid as may be "legal."

"Legal" is a very precious word. If the board fails to find legal methods of feeding the famished Indians, the victims of privation will die, but the process of dissolution will be "legal;" in this thought there abides great comfort.

When San Francisco was burning, the city of Philadelphia appropriated a large sum for relief. There was not the slightest legal ground for this course. The proponents of the scheme had not a leg to stand on. Nevertheless the appropriation was rushed through, and the money rushed to the coast. Everybody concerned was glad. There was not a murmur of protest from taxpayers. This simple incident shows that sometimes legality really is a minor consideration.

Indians never have been properly treated. They have been deprived of lands without compensation, cheated by agents, robbed by contractors. The whole story makes a sorry recital that fails utterly to stir any emotion of pride.

If there are Indian children starving in this great state of abundance, then the first action ought to be to feed them, and after that to spend as much time as profitable in discussing the legality of the only humane course possible.

THE PRESS AGENT

By DR. FRANK CRANE

Professor Brown of the Columbia School of Journalism contributes to the North American Review an article on the growth of a new journalism, which he calls a menace to journalism proper.

By this he means that propaganda which is the work of the press agent.

The press agent is a modern and rapid growth. Not so many years ago he was merely a good fellow who tried to cultivate reporters and stand in with editors.

Now, as Professor Brown says:

"The press agent belongs to a numerous, well recognized, and well paid profession. His handsomely furnished office is next door to that of the president of the great corporation; he is the consultant of the organizers of great philanthropies, the mouthpiece of political leaders, the window-dresser of government departments."

"He lays upon the desks of the leading newspapers every day enough copy to fill their pages—news, editorial and advertising—twice over. And he succeeds in getting enough printed to earn his salary to the satisfaction of his employer, to establish his own importance in the eyes of publicity seekers, and to color effectively the picture of American life and its supposedly spontaneous movements presented to the American people."

There is a reason for this and a very simple and natural one.

And the reason is that publicity, it has been discovered, is worth money. Publicity is what the newspaper has to sell. And it is very natural that the people who want to make use of that try to buy it from the newspaper.

The straight and ethical way to buy it is to advertise. When a man purchases a certain space in a newspaper in which to tell the public about the beauties of his safety razor or his typewriter, it is a perfectly square deal.

When, however, the enterprising merchant goes beyond this and seeks to mould the news or editorial opinion in the paper for his advantage, such action is not ethical. Once let the public become convinced that the news is not true and that editorial opinion is not sincere, but that these things are bought, and such a newspaper loses its influence.

The press agent is not necessarily an evil. He has his place and the information he supplies is often valuable.

He is an evil only when either he or the man who employs him is a crook.

LISTENING POST

Somewhere it is said that "a house divided against itself cannot stand."

Lincoln said that the nation could not endure half slave and half free.

Either it must become all slave.

Or all free.

Or cease to endure.

Nothing is achieved worth much with half purpose.

Indefiniteness and uncertainty and doubt.

There was an old saying about "sending a boy to mill."

Meaning that if there was something to be taken to the mill, a man would do the task quicker and with more certainty than a boy.

Because the mind of a boy is full of indefiniteness and uncertainty.

It has not been disciplined.

It lacks definite direction.

It is full of cross currents and purposes.

A flower to pick here and a butterfly to chase there and a path here to explore and a brook there to look down into.

And Longfellow says that a boy's will is the wind's will.

Which means that it is subject to many curious and varying directions.

This is saying nothing against boys.

It is merely to state a truth with reference to the boyish mind.

Which is undisciplined and to a great extent lacking in definiteness and direction.

As a boy's mind should be.

Up to a certain time.

Just as an apple should be green up to a certain time.

It is all in the process of growth and development.

There has to be a state of greenness before there can come ripeness and mellowness.

And a tree sways easily up to a certain time.

And a flower remains a bud up to a certain time.

And we cannot complain of the boy, the apple, the tree or the flower.

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Every time a pair of unbridled young people permit themselves to become the puppets of passion, and openly defy the conventions of law and decency, they seem to fancy they have taken a course little less than sublime. It is their worst to boast of their conduct, construing it as noble and heroic.

Here is the disgusting spectacle of the Garland chap back east, who has a wife and child, but lacked the manliness to support them, even declining a perfectly legitimate legacy on 'lofty moral ground. Then he met another girl, as lewd of instinct and on the same brute level as himself. In order to provide for her, he consented to receive the despised fortune.

Now the unsavory pair are bragging about their relationship and the holiness of their affections, apparently quite oblivious to the fact that ethically and socially they have no traits above those possessed by the equally vociferous alley cat.

Brisbane says that the cry of extravagance in relation to the payment of $825,000 for a pearl necklace, is nonsense. He does not regard the sum as especially high to pay for a necklace, anyhow.

From time to time some of the eccentric opinions of Brisbane have been mentioned in this column, usually coupled with the admission of the man's brilliancy. In most of the matters he discusses he is trying to express an opinion that as an intelligent person is would be impossible for him to hold. The cunningness with which he performs this difficult task, the apparent sincerity by which he makes the foolish, seem plausible to the careless reader, is the basis of his claim to brilliancy. It is an art, an evil art to be sure; and few have mastered it so well.

But there is no artistry in his statement that a fortune spent on a bauble to bedeck the neck of pride, does not represent extravagance. It is extravagance; not the mere suggestion.

The chief general prohibition agent of the United States arrives in San Francisco, and announces that by the end of the same week, the possibility of getting an illicit drink in the bay city will have vanished quite away.

Immediately thereafter, his program is to visit Los Angeles and there, with equal speed, perform a similar miracle.

Perhaps the gentleman carries the hindfoot of a graveyard rabbit, and has rather too high an estimate of its potency.

There are a few men of each generation who rise to the dignity of being world figures. Such a man was the late James Bryce. He had reached great age, and had attained to great wisdom. To almost unexampled degree he combined the observer and the thinker. His fund of information was stupendous, his insight the gift of absolute genius.

Probably there was no other foreigner equally high in the esteem of Americans. He had been termed an "English Yankee," because he knew more about this country than most Americans. They were glad to learn from him, to have the benefit of his research, his rich experience and his lucid style of expression.

A prisoner escaped from the Colorado penitentiary by swinging himself hand over hand along two heavily charged wires.

It is said that any man will try anything once, but if the thing in question was to give a warm clasp to a heavily charged wire, the chance of further experimentation on his part had been regarded as remote.

To be called a "Modern Solomon" has been the distinction won by a New York judge. He had told a kid who was before him seeking the annulment of a marriage, that if she got wedded again without maternal consent, before the age of eighteen, she ought to be spanked.

By the way, Solomon has been generally over-estimated. He knew a trick or two, but his wisdom is a matter born of tradition, and with slender basis in fact.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

His name might be Jenks, but it isn't, and it doesn't make any difference anyhow. His one job in life is to make over business enterprises that have gone sour. Incidentally he has made himself rich at it. But he has worked at his job because that particular job is the one thing that life holds for him. As soon as he has turned a wreck into a prosperous concern he sells out and begins looking about for another wreck.

"How do you do it?" I asked.

"I'm a salesman primarily," he said. "I sell goods through other men. But I will not have a salesman on the job unless he has got what I call business religion."

Sometimes the goods he has to sell are no better than other competitive goods. He never puts them on the market until they are at least as good. But he can always sell them because his men believe in them. They know all about the articles they sell. They know where they are made, how they are made, of what materials they are made and what they are good for. They never try to sell a man who does not need them, but a possible customer has no chance against them. Their eyes shine. They have the fervor of evangelists. The old man gives them a motto.

"Young man," he says to them, "sell thyself."

The advertising columns are full of people, he says, who offer to teach "personality" in a course of lessons. He does not believe in that sort of teaching. The dominant young man with an undershot jaw and a loose tongue and an imperious forefinger has no place in his establishment. That sort of a man might bully a customer into buying once, he says, but next time around he would not be able to break into that customer's office with a crowbar.

"The salesman I want," he said, "is the sort of a man who gets himself filled up with the merits of the goods he has to sell. He talks about them to his wife. He comes busting into my office to tell me new things. He may be a small, narrow-shouldered, rabbit-faced person with a squeaky voice, but if he knows his game and believes in it from turret to foundation stone he will make good."

Hard times never come too hard for a business represented by that sort of men, he says.

WAR MATERIALS TO BE AUCTIONED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Approximately $20,000,000 worth of surplus war department materials will be disposed of by auction from the various distributing centers throughout the country during the month of February. IF YOU'RE SORRY YOU BOBBED YOUR HAIR TRY ONE OF THE 'RAINBOW COIFFURES'

If you bobbed your hair and you're sorry you did, there is a helpful suggestion from the American Ladies' Hairdressers' association. The photograph shows how Mrs. Charles Frey solved the problem. She and her husband won first prize with their "rainbow coiffure" at the association's annual banquet and ball held in New York. Mrs. Frey is seen at the left with bobbed hair. The insert shows what wonders the "rainbow coiffure" worked. It's a pity the camera couldn't catch the colors and shades, for there were twenty-two of them.

INVISIBLE PAGES DISAPPEARING FROM JAP PAPERS

Queer Manners of Japan
Are Fast Being Put Away

TOKIO, Jan. 26.—The "invisible page" of Japanese newspapers is becoming a thing of the past. The "invisible page" used to be to Japanese journalism what the "man in black" still is to the Japanese stage.

When a person wearing black clothes comes upon the stage of a theater, his presence is unnoticed. Being in black means that you are not there at all. It is very convenient. If it is necessary to shift scenes of bring on new settings in the midst of an act, the stage hands simply put on black cloaks and proceed about their business. The performance continues without interruption, actors and audience alike undisturbed.

By a similar delusive process, which for a long time was accepted by everybody without question, newspapers had the custom of printing an "invisible page." Theoretically it didn't exist. Actually it was read with more zest than anything in the paper. All the scandal stuff, all the stories that might start trouble, went on the "invisible page." The public was by custom bound to concede that the page they read first and most eagerly, really had never been printed at all.

If a prominent citizen figured in an invisible page story as the star villain in a little geisha affair, what could he do about it? It was a social error to sue for libel or give the editor the jiu-jitsu equivalent of a horsewhipping, for the simple reason that "there was no such page!"

It was a grand little game and everybody played it fairly. A good "invisible page" editor could name his own salary, and the sheets with the snappiest "invisible features" soared to tremendous circulations.

Then a big political sharpshooter on one of the big papers spoiled everything. The government had forbidden newspaper mention or discussion of some subject. This writer printed a powerful piece about it on the "invisible page." Somehow or other that "invisible page" immediately became as obvious as a Broadway electric billboard.

The government insisted upon seeing it. The editor protested that it was invisible. The government said that being the case it wanted to be fair, so it would be content with slapping him into an invisible jail. It suppressed the paper for a week and told the boss to use his perfectly good imagination and imagine his business was continuing all the time. So the invisible angle of the Japanese newspaper game became too uncertain, and languished and has just about died.

The Forever Wronged

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE

Author of "The Riddle of Personality," "Self-Development," Etc.
(Copyright, 1921, by The Associated Newspapers.)

One of the most unfortunate mental attitudes a man can develop is that of feeling that he is forever being treated unfairly by other people. It is not merely an attitude grounded in a false belief, but it also is one certain to have serious consequences to the man developing it.

Always it betokens unwillingness to recognize shortcomings in one's self. It may, indeed, be described as a device whereby weak and inefficient persons seek to conceal, even from themselves, their weakness and inefficiency.

Necessarily it has the effect of preventing any sincere effort at self-improvement. Because of the discordant, chaotic state of mind it engenders, it has the further effect of making those who develop it more inefficient than they were to begin with.

And if they happen to have been born with what medical men call a psychopathic predisposition, persistent dwelling on the false belief that they are perpetually being wronged may in the end make them insane—and afflicted with insanity of a type peculiarly dangerous to their fellow men.

Visit any hospital for the mentally diseased and you will find in it a number of inmates who, on first acquaintance, would seem to be unjustifiably deprived of their liberty. They are bright looking, they converse intelligently, their demeanor is in every way normal.

But question the hospital's superintendent and you will speedily learn that, of all the patients in his charge, they are the ones who have to be watched most carefully.

"These poor people," he will explain to you, "labor under the delusion that there is a conspiracy against them. They have fixed on certain persons as the arch-conspirators. If they were at liberty they would straightway seek to kill those persons."

If now you take the trouble to inquire into the early histories of these dangerously deluded folk, you will nearly always find that their obsession of persecution was of gradual growth. You will find, too, that it started after they had in one way or another failed conspicuously to meet ordinary requirements of life, such as the requirement of earning their living.

Instead of sensibly acknowledging that their repeated failures were due to defects which they should endeavor to correct, they had adopted the easy method of throwing the blame on other people. As failures multiplied they became more and more convinced that others were wronging them, were plotting against them. Thus little by little they impelled themselves to the inferno of insanity.

Happily only a small proportion of those who deem themselves forever wronged become definitely insane. But all who develop this false and foolish attitude are certainly inviting insanity. At best they are dooming themselves to a life of unhappiness, mediocrity, and perhaps desperate poverty.

Remember this, if you who read these words chance to be yourself inclined to a belief that you never get a "square deal" from those about you.

THE CASUAL CUSTARD

By M. JESSIE LEITCH

Most of the desserts Mary Anne offered her sick sister were casual. Mary Anne was so apt to leave out the sugar, or the eggs, or the currants, when she was making a pudding. Or to whisk a custard out of the oven at the last minute in a state of unpalatable milkiness, just because she had forgotten to put it into the oven in good time. And one evening a neighbor who had been taking Mary Anne's place in the sick-room when the young girl went out for her afternoon walk, took it upon herself to linger a little later than was her wont, and to inspect the tea tray Mary Anne prepared hurriedly for her sister.

The tray looked delightful. But the soup was not very warm, not even steaming, and the toast had been scorched a little, and the poached egg had broken all over the little circle of toast that Mary Anne had placed on the little blue plate.

Mary Anne is Upset
"It's just because you're here, watching me, and I wanted it to look so nice—and everything is going wrong!" wailed Mary Anne, her face flushed with anxiety and the teasing fire of tears were springing to her pretty blue eyes.

"My dear child, you must not worry. Things are bound to go wrong sometimes, and poached eggs are not to be depended upon." "Anyway, Mona is tired of eggs," mourned Mary Anne. "She is perfectly sweet about taking them, because they are good for her. But I know it's misery for her to swallow one."

"Have you tried giving custards?" asked the neighbor.

"Yes. But I'm afraid my custards are not very good. I make better fudge than bread pudding," said Mary Anne, with a discouraged air, starting upstairs with the tray.

Makes Individual Custards
When she came down Mrs. White was whisking eggs briskly.

"I am going to make some little individual custards for you," she explained. "They will have time to cool and be delicious for tomorrow's lunch tray."

"But I always make custards in the morning of the day I mean to use them," said Mary Anne, in surprise. "I thought they should be very fresh. And they are always so watery. Or else they don't set, and I am quite in despair."

"When patients tire of raw milk and eggs, one may conjure them into custards," explained the neighbor, warming milk on the stove.

"I always use the milk cold. Don't you?" Mary Anne exclaimed.

"No. I warm it, always. And add my well-beaten eggs, sugar, salt, and flavoring, then pour the mixture into custard cups and set the cups in a pan of boiling water. The water should almost reach the top of the pan. One may use any spice or flavoring for custard, but cinnamon is especially good, and a little unusual."

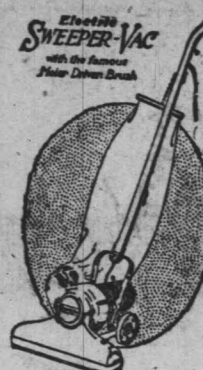

Too "Casual" About Custards

"Doesn't cinnamon make a custard look dusty on top?" said Mary Anne. "I thought so."

The neighbor smiled. "Not if you break a piece of stick cinnamon into the milk when you are heating it," she said. "It gives a faint cinnamon flavor, without darkening the custard. Of course you take the stick cinnamon out before you bake your custards."

"How do you know when they are done?" asked Mary Anne.

"I test them by dipping a pointed knife into boiling water, and plunging it into the center of a custard. If the knife comes out clear, the custard is done. If it cooks too long, you know, it will curdle. And a custard should never be served warm, my child. Also when baked custards fail to tempt, there is an endless variety of soft-boiled custards one may offer. They may be served with fruit or berries."

THE RED DOG'S DREAM COMES TRUE

By JOHN BARTON

(Copyright, 1921, by Associated Newspapers)

Wasn't Maltie Kitten mystified? Had Watch gone daft? There he went bounding across the snow with his waggly old tail waving round and round behind him. It would have set those two rival tail-talkers, Tip-up and Sandpiper and Daddy Green-crest the Duck, simply shrieking with laughter. It was a signal all of his own. It meant, "Hooray! Hooray! We've won!"

But Maltie scowled. Dogs were too much for him. He couldn't understand them. He wasn't doing any good here at all. So he started for home. But he stopped at the evergreens to call. "Come on, Red Dog! You'd better come along with us, back to the cabin."

"Thank you," it answered with a sigh. "I may come tracking along after you. But I'm going to keep on hoping for Louie Thomson to come until sunset."

"Don't wait till supper's all eaten," advised the cat. "Hoping's hungry work at an empty rat-hole. You're too late. Everybody's left the Pond."

"But I haven't been there yet," argued the dog. "I've never talked with Dr. Muskrat and I can't leave till I do that, can I?"

"You haven't been there yet," exclaimed Maltie. "I never thought of it. Of course you haven't. May be there's another chance left yet. I'll go with you." So they trotted along through the stillness. Maltie's feet felt very heavy, because he was tired, and the snow was so deep, but he thought it was

"Meow! Me-a-ow!" he shouted in his tired voice.

just because he felt so disappointed. He sat the dog on the flat stone and began calling Dr. Muskrat. "Meow! Me-a-ow! Me-a-ow!"

he shouted in his tired voice. The red dog's ears began to prick. He was hearing the soft, snow-muffled sound of footsteps. Should he run and hide? Then he heard some one say, "Stop pulling at me, Watch. Leggo, sir! I'm coming. What's the matter with you anyway?"

Then somebody else said, "I say, Tommy, there's something wrong with a cat. I hear one meowing. And the red dog's heart gave a great leap. For he knew who that was."

Nearer, nearer, round the end of the Quail's Thicket—suddenly somebody cried out, "It's my own old Pal—my dear, dear, dear, red dog! Come—"

And that was the last word he had a chance to say—the word the dog had been waiting for. It was there, kissing him all over from head to foot with a loving pink tongue.

LITTLE CIRCUS AT T. D. & L. TODAY

Wolford's Dogs Show Marked Intelligence in Fine Act

Today is the first of the Melkle John & Dunn vaudeville road show which is coming to the T. D. and L. Theatre for the week-end. Headlining this show will be Wolford's dogs who offer a miniature circus all in itself. These canines perform with most uncanny intelligence and the tricks which they do are sure to cause much laughter. Besides the dogs there are several monkeys in this act, and these clever little animals assist the dogs with their stunts in a most amusing manner.

The Becker Quartet is composed of four beautiful girls who sing and whistle most charmingly. Their offering is costumed very prettily and this quartet has been featured at Grauman's million dollar theatre. That tricky trickster, Harry Goldrun, is a magician who is also a comedian. He keeps his audience in an uproar from the minute he steps upon the stage until he leaves it.

Mention should be made of the novel act which Harold Crenyon and his six dolls are presenting. Mr. Crenyon is a ventriloquist of ability and he holds the record for rapid changes of voice, keeping the six dolls in a rapid fire conversation all during his act.

The photoplay which will be shown in conjunction with the vaudeville is "Pilgrims of the Night" which is a lavishly produced mystery drama in which will be found many moments of interest.

Some coal miners in South Wales are being paid as high as $5000 a year, while wages amounting to from $3500 to $4000 are fairly common.

DRAMA SECTION FIRST MEETING

Discuss Drinkwater's Famous Play "Abraham Lincoln"

LA CRESCENTA, Jan. 27.—The drama section of the La Crescenta Woman's club held its first meeting at the La Crescenta hotel Wednesday afternoon under the curatorship of Mrs. Charles Turk. John Drinkwater's famous play, "Abraham Lincoln," is the first play under discussion. One of the outstanding features of the afternoon was the biography of Abraham Lincoln, given by Mrs. Turk. A cup of tea at "Cuddie Doon," the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas, concluded a most delightful afternoon. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Turk gave an interesting talk on Rome and the death of Pope Leo, with postcard slides from a collection made during their stay in Rome. Mr. and Mrs. Turk were in Rome at the time of the death of Pope Leo. Mrs. Gardner Towne of San Francisco was the guest of her sister, Mrs. H. S. Bissell, Wednesday and Thursday.

Mrs. V. B. Chaplin of Los Angeles visited her many friends here during the week.

Mrs. Charles W. Rohne leaves Sunday for her home in Los Angeles after a two weeks' stay at the La Crescenta hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Pease of Los Angeles spent Tuesday looking after their ranch here, and visiting friends.

A Bellman of Community avenue passed away last Monday. Mr. Bellman had been a resident of La Crescenta for over a year and had made many friends. He is survived by a wife.

The loss of wages to working people through unemployment is about $1,000,000,000 a year.

HEADS OF PICTURE INDUSTRY SAID TO BE IN RING

Trying to Dominate Politics to Prevent Censorship Claim

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—The legislative boom will be taken up by congress to sweep the movies morally clean through establishment of a federal censorship and to prevent movie magnates from dominating politics, Senator Myers, Montana, predicted today. Myers is sponsor of resolutions for a probe of movie activities in politics and institution of a federal censorship board.

"I cannot believe that the movie magnates purchased Will Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, to avoid national censorship," Myers declared in an interview. "They may have thought Hays could clean up the movies himself and thereby erase necessity of federal censorship."

"But I rather believe they will feel that national censorship is sure to come. We must protect our children from salacious pictures that are being shown on the screen today. Statistics gathered by educators of the country show that while 17,000,000 boys and girls attend school, 20,000,000 persons attend the movies every day."

"The difficulties have been further complicated by the movie magnates, who declare they are out to elect men to every political office who will allow these horrible conditions to continue. Great forces are being brought to bear by these rich men to force this political domination of the American people."

"I am for movies, but I want good movies. I want the children of the country protected from these salacious scenes that poison their minds with mysterious passions."

The coal dispute in England is paralyzing the cotton industry in that country and more than 300,000 operatives have been thrown out of work owing to the inability of the mills to secure fuel to run their plants.

Old Boy, don't you know
It is twenty below,
And the ink as I write is near freezing?
Do you think that that guff
About flowers and stuff
That you write me about can be pleasing?

When my fingers are blue
And the old furnace flue
Is red hot with the fire that is roaring,
Is it kind, do you think,
To use up all that ink
In your sunshine-and-flower outpouring?

Don't you think it is rough
When you write me that stuff?
Do you think that we feel any better
When we all see our breath
And are freezing to death,
And we open your confounded letter?

Can't you write anything
But the fragrance of spring?
Or are you just cruel, like Nero?
Don't you think it is a sin
To keep rubbing it in
When we have to stay here below zero?

Don't write any more
Of that heavenly-shore
Kind of stuff—"Paradise or quite near it";
For in two feet of snow
When it's twenty below,
I tell you I don't want to hear it.

Tomorrow the formal opening of the new store of the Smith Electrical company, 631 East Broadway, will be held. T. I. Smith, proprietor, has been in the electrical business here for the past 15 years, and at various times has been employed by the largest electrical men in Glendale.

For a long time Mr. Smith has conducted his own electrical business with headquarters at 1100 North Central avenue. While in this location his business increased to such an extent that he found it absolutely necessary to secure larger quarters.

For two weeks following the opening this company will make a specialty of fixtures for four and five room homes. A complete line of electrical supplies and fixtures, as well as household appliances of all kinds will be carried. "Quality and service" is the motto of this firm.

FEDERAL BOATS HUNT RUM SHIPS

EUREKA, Cal., Jan. 27.—The U. S. coast guard cutter, Cohokia is soon to become a whisky ship. In order to cooperate with the federal prohibition officers, the coast guard service has placed its cutters in service to aid in preventing the "rum ships" from Canada from landing the present immense quantity of liquor along the California coast, for consumption by voters who didn't get a chance to vote on Mr. Volstead's law.

Henceforth, rum-runners are likely to be surprised by the sudden appearance of a "low, rakish craft" flying the flag of the coast guard service. Federal prohibition agents will work with the service in dispatching the cutter to points along the Humboldt and Mendocino coast where the rum runners are suspected of operating.

The Cohokia is on her way here from the east, as is the cutter Tamora, which will be stationed at San Pedro, and the Shawnee, now being built at Oakland for service around and about the harbor of San Francisco.

The editor of a small paper in a remote part of southern California found himself unable to insert his usual column of births, marriages, and deaths.

Thinking that some apology was needed for such an untoward circumstance, he inserted the following, in clear, black type:

"We regret that, owing to pressure upon our space, several deaths have been inevitably postponed."

GIRL'S FOURTEEN POINTS BROKEN

Sixteen Year Old Girl Returned to Her Home It Is Thought

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 27.—When pretty, 16-year-old Edith Muter became tired of merely being "somebody's steno" and living at home, she decided to run away and make her living "on her own."

But she had a very definite idea of what she was going to do, and so made out the "Fourteen Points" she was going to live by, no matter what happened.

Edith got as far as Salt Lake City where a San Francisco reference, given when she applied for a position, led to her being taken into custody, and sent back home so her folks could quit worrying.

She didn't get a chance to give her "fourteen points" much of a test, but nevertheless they caused widespread comment throughout the country. She left a letter containing the things she was going to do in her desk when she left the "steno" job. Here they are:

Live in a moderate-priced boarding house.

Be careful in the choice of my friends.

Seek honest work at the best salary I can get.

Remember the teaching of my mother.

Go to church every Sunday.

Send home money.

Write to mother and father twice a week.

Keep my address out of all my letters.

Keep in touch with someone in San Francisco.

Always command self-respect.

Edith got a chance to keep a few of her points. She wrote home twice a week, but she didn't give her address. She went to church on Sunday. And she inadvertently kept in touch with someone in San Francisco through her reference agent, and thereby ended her "great adventure."

TYPHOID FEVER SHOWS DECLINE

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 27.—Decrease in the death rate from typhoid fever in California 1921 gives rise to the hope that the disease will soon be conquered in this state, it was announced by the state board of health. The death rate per 100,000 population in the state in 1921 for this disease was only 4.1, while in 1920 it was 4.9. The decline in 1920 also was marked. In 1919 the death rate per 100,000 was 5.5. In 1906 more than 32 out of every 100,000 persons died of typhoid fever.

You may have noticed that between paying taxes and his wife's bills a married man is constantly confronted by a financial straitened.

FRANCES MAC LANE IS BEING HELD BY OGDEN POLICE

Has Robbins Child, Taking It to Its Father in 'Frisco

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—Chicago detectives dashed toward Ogden, Utah, today with a warrant charging Miss Frances MacLane with kidnapping George B. Robbins III, three years old. The boy is the grandson of George B. Robbins, for 35 years a vice-president of Armour & Co., and son of Cutler H. Robbins, capitalist.

The warrant for Miss MacLane, who is pretty and 22, was sworn out by the child's mother, Mrs. Mary Robbins former. Police chorus girl, who was divorced by the father. Miss MacLane's mad race to the coast with the child was interrupted when she was taken off the train at Ogden at the instance of Chicago authorities. Detectives then started out to serve the warrant.

At the same time, according to members of the Robbins family here, the father left San Francisco for Ogden to obtain the release of Miss MacLane. The divorced Mrs. Robbins stated that Miss MacLane and her former husband were engaged.

"He divorced me, charging I boxed his ears and slapped his face," she said. "He was granted the custody of the child but it was stipulated that I could have Georgia at stated times. He was in my keeping when Miss MacLane took him away. When I discovered it, I swore out the warrant. I won't let them take my child away."

Miss MacLane's mother denied that the daughter is engaged to Robbins. "They have been friends for a long while," she said. "Frances was just taking the child to him."

HI STUDENTS TO ROOT FOR HOME

There was an assembly this morning at Glendale high to boost for the debate which takes place at Long Beach tonight, to the end that a good delegation will attend to "root" for the local champions. The Glendale representatives, who are Isabel Tousey and Dale Wood, will debate the affirmative side of the question: "Resolved, That Extra Territoriality Be Abolished in China."

In Boston at a joint conference of the national committee of granite industries and representatives of the Paving Cutters' Union it was voted to favor an extension of the annual agreement.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

GERMANY IS NOT AFTER MORE WARS

Not Going to Genoa With Dagger in Toga Wirth Declares

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—Germany wants peace and will honestly strive to maintain it, Chancellor Wirth told the Reichstag. He declared Germany sincerely intended to meet reparations payments to the best of its ability.

Germany's attitude toward France will always be an open "will to peace," no matter whether a Briand or a Poincare is in power there, the chancellor asserted. He quoted from Pope Benedict's peace address in 1917, then, and said Germany wants to help reconstruct the world economically and cooperate in establishment of a real peace.

"We do not go to the economic conference at Genoa with a dagger in our toga, but with the slogan that all nations, poor and rich, victors and conquered, should have as their mutual aim reconstruction of international economic relations," he said.

A survey of the wages of more than 4000 women employed in commercial and industrial pursuits in Colorado has disclosed that 13 per cent of those employed receive less than $12 per week and that 50 per cent receive less than $15.
